Leader's Line ...

It's "OK to be a JA"

RICH GARRETT, PRESIDENT

The annual JA Award (That would be a Jack Ass award) is in some deranged way one of the most prestigious awards that that can be presented to a club member. I guess in a way, it is a vehicle for saying "we love Ya" and to prove it we are going to tell everyone that you did something really dumb. We will etch it in stone and present you a plaque (or a similar token of endearment) at the Annual Installation Dinner so that from that day forward you will be reminded that on this particular day or days you were not exactly qualified to become a member of the Rand Corporations' exclusive "Think Tank".

So, how does one become known as a qualifier to be a JA? Well it takes another creature to make it happen—a Rat. Usually when a ship is sinking the Rats are the first to abandon the ship. However on the good ship LBCC – JA, the Rats clamor to get aboard. Each Rat becomes a lobbyist seeking the favor of the group that makes the final determination; the Sunshine Committee. This ad hoc group of reprobates have deemed themselves beyond reproach and accordingly in some egocentric manner has exempted themselves from consideration for the award.

I would like to offer some food for thought as to why this self declared immunity should be challenged.

When a 100 year flood occurs, it is no ordinary flood. This is the Mother of all Floods—as in pertaining to Noah. The catastrophe is on all the TV stations, etc. In the case of an ordinary flood, it will only get a couple of lines on the front page.

Should our club march to a different drummer where the mother of all JA's is concerned?

I would like to present my argument to you in the format adapted by OJ Simpson when he came out with the book IF I DID IT. Any implied reference to someone you may know is not strictly a coincidence. But you should refrain associating a name and confine your conclusions to the subject matter.

So here we go: If I were a member of the Sunshine Committee & and if I were a Master Casting Instructor and if I recently conducted a fishing trip to Christmas Island (a place that I had been to several times) and if, on one of my previous trips to one of the lagoons, I had spotted a partially submerged submarine of WWII vintage in the lagoon and if I, in my zealous desire to show the other 8 members of the trip this extraordinary discovery, I arranged to have the entire group go the this location (approximately a 1 hour drive) and if this submarine turned out to be a partially exposed reef that due to some visual or mental impairment on my part could be construed from a distance to be a submarine on my previous trip then SHOULD I RECEIVE IMMUNITY (or should the club express some compassion and pay for my visit to an Optometrist and/or a Psychiatrist)?

If you are new to the club you should be getting the impression that we have fun in many areas somewhat, but not directly, related to catching fish. Humor is close to the top of the list.

This has only touched the surface of the JA and its significance to us. If you want some history from a real pro in the area of the JA Award, do not miss the September monthly meeting where Jack Turner will be hosting the program and it is titled JA MEMORIES.

I would cancel my trip to the submarine sighting or almost any other place to attend this meeting. It should be a barn burner...

Jack Turner and JA Memories

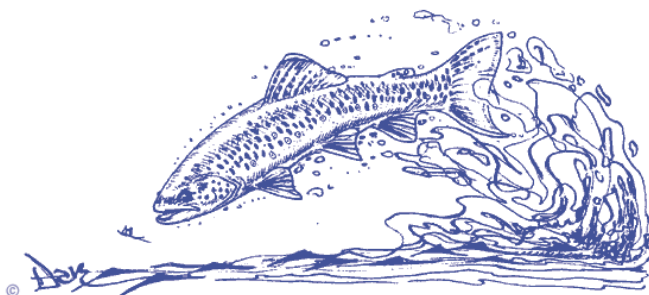

BILL BOEHLERT - 1ST VICE PRESIDENT

One of the great benefits of a venerable club like LBCC are its many traditions and long institutional memory. One of the longer memories of the club belongs to Jack Turner, a member since 1966 and President from 1971 to 1972. Jack has seen a lot of changes in his four decades of membership, and witnessed the birth of many traditions.

Jack will be our September speaker, and his topic will be JA Memories. For those new members unfamiliar with the JA Award, it is given out at the Annual General Meeting in April of each year to a club member who has achieved (committed might be a better word) some memorable faux pas while on a fishing trip. In my short experience, I have witnessed such distinguished recipients as Bob Graham and Chuck Moore heralded for their accomplishments. Jack will be taking a historical look at the JA Award and the Sunshine Committee, which presides over it.

This presentation will be particularly meaningful for the more recent members of the club who might be unaware or only partially aware of our traditions. Of course, more seasoned veterans will undoubtedly appreciate reliving some of the stories and missteps made by their colleagues.

So be sure to attend the September 30 meeting at 7:00 PM. The question Jack would like you to ponder before the meeting is: "What is the connection between the Peanuts comic strip and the JA Award?"

Extended Bridgeport Outing

JIM THOMASON, 2ND VICE PRESIDENT

This month's outing will be an exploratory two part affair to the Bridgeport area and beyond. The first half we'll be near the town of Markleeville (just south of Lake Tahoe). Thursday we'll be exploring the East Carson River. Friday we'll be floating Heenan Lake (a catch and release lake where they raise Lahontan Cutthroat brood stock for all of California). If you don't float, Friday you can return to the East Carson or try the West Carson River or Pleasant Valley Fly Fishing reserve (fee).

Friday evening we'll drop down to the Bridgeport area and the big browns of the East Walker River. You can also choose to fish the West Walker River, Robinson Creek, Green Creek, Bridgeport Reservoir, Virginia Lake, or Kirman Lake (a 3 mile hike with your tube for big, big brookies).

You can join us for the whole trip or just one half or the other.

There are motels, cabins, and campgrounds in the Markleeville area. A group will be heading up early to scout out the various lakes and rivers in the area, including the Truckee River, West Carson River, possibly Martis Creek Reservoir.

In Bridgeport, we'll be headquartered in the Virginia Creek Settlement (5 miles south of Bridgeport <http://www.virginiacrksettlement.com/>) which offers, motel rooms, tent cabins, tent sites, and cabins.

Lodging, waters, available guides, etc. will be discussed at the Pre-trip September 22nd at 7:00 PM. Contact me if you need information before then or if you're interested in going up early (jathomason@mail.com, 626-357-6050).

See you there!

Long Beach Casting Club Tackle Exchange

PAUL BURGNER, MEMBER

The Club is going to have a Tackle exchange (Swap meet) at the club house on September 18, 2010 starting at 8:00 AM and going to 6:00 PM

If you have any old, new, used, or antique fishing tackle laying around that you never use, or would just like to get some $$$ for, you need to attend this event.

This event is not only open to Members and Guests, but we are having some Tackle collectors also show up. So even if you don't have anything to sell and have some old stuff just lying around, bring it in and get it appraised.

We will set up 20 tables inside the club house for those that wish to display and sell items. The tables will rent for $15.00 dollars each, and the proceeds (of the table rental only) will go to the club. The tables will be available on a first come first served basis. If you don't think you have enough to fill up a table, partner up with a couple of other people to rent a table.

Contact me for table rentals at 562-634-1515

Yards & Inches World Record Broken Twice in the Same Day!

JIM THOMASON, 2ND VICE PRESIDENT

They started arriving shortly before dawn at the designated launch site just inside Huntington Harbor. There were kayaks of several sorts (single and double hulled, powered by paddle, propeller, and fins), pontoon boats with and without frames, one 18' aluminum boat, and a lone float tube. We were later joined by a motorized sailboat (minus the sail). Several in attendance had never fly fished there or any other bay. All were there in an attempt to break the world record for the 3rd Annual Yards & Inches Tournament thereby gaining a lifetime of notoriety and fame.

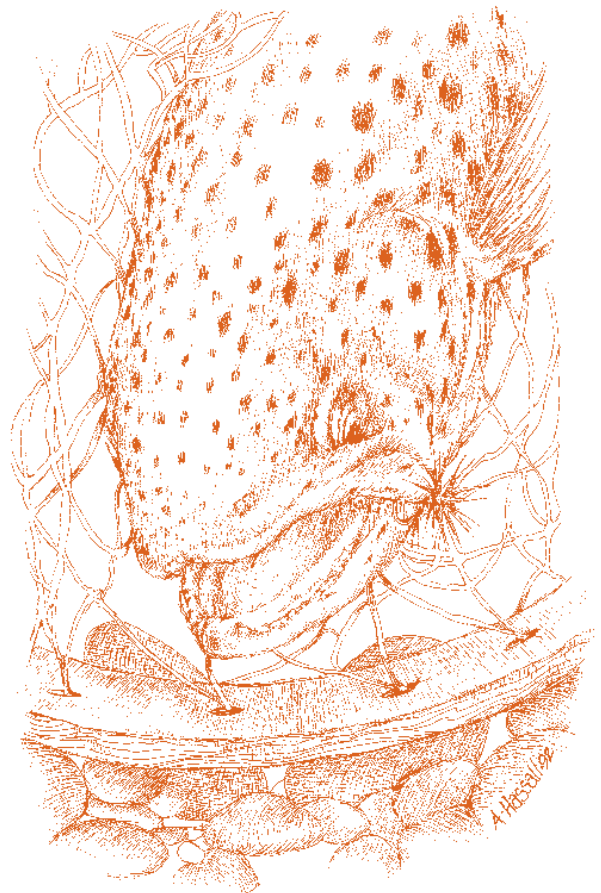

It looked to be a great day with a nice overcast sky, no wind, a moderate incoming tide, and comfortable temperatures. We all raced for the harbor entrance to prepare for the incoming rush of water and the rising tide. The tide started slowly but eventually increased to near river-like flows. After several minutes of rigorous paddling "upstream" (or motoring for those so equipped), it was a quick ride downstream with the current. Several early hook-ups meant it definitely had the potential to be better than last year when the tide disappointed us.

Unfortunately, for several us, our initial visions of grandeur faded quickly and we were happy to simply get our first fish onboard. Others were left with valuable lessons to ponder and thoughts of those that got away. Word soon spread that Craig McLaughlin had broken the previous record of 77 total inches. However, his excitement was short lived.

Kevin Green, winner of the original Yards & Inches Tournament, roared back to reclaim his spot on the perpetual trophy and renew his reign as Harbor Master Extraordinaire. He did so with an astonishing catch of 7 different species (halibut, spotted bay bass, sand bass, lizard fish, mackerel, croaker, and calico bass). His total of 111" spread over 11 fish set a new standard that will be hard to beat. Plans are already being drawn up to pre-fish the harbor over the coming year in an effort to close the experience gap.

Thanks to Mick Woodbury, we were all treated to a wonderful closing ceremony complete with posole, beverages, and exaggerated tales. Kevin was grilled for all the details of his winning approach, including the white over olive Clouser that caught most of his fish. Other participants and their totals included: Nani Blyleven (17"), Jim Fournell (30"), Craig Haines (0"), Tommy Kendall (0"), Van Lloyd (18"), Al Ross (6"), Robert Ruscitto (20"), John Stine (0"), Bettye Swart (0"), Jim Thomason (21"), and Mick Woodbury (24"). This event is developing into a great way to explore and experience our local water so make plans to join us next year.

Club Trips for 2010-2011

JIM THOMASON, 2ND VICE PRESIDENT

The September outing will be to Markleeville and Bridgeport to fish the Carson and Walker Rivers as well as Heenan lake. See the article elsewhere.

Kings River Classic October 9th: Every year the Kaweah Fly Fishing Club hosts their Kings River Classic on the South Fork of the Kings River just outside King's Canyon National Park. Several members of the Long Beach club joined them a couple years ago and had a good time. It's a fun "tournament" where attendees are grouped in teams of four and the team with the most fish is the winner. They also have prizes for biggest brown, rainbow, etc.

Each team rotates thru and fishes each of 8 "beats" (1/4 mile sections of the river). The prizes are quite nominal (think 2 buck Chuck) and the best part is the wonderful Tri-Tip dinner they prepare afterwards. There is very limited lodging and most folks camp. If you're interested, contact me for details.

CALIFORNIA FLY FISHER: If you have a sizable stack of pre-2006 back issues of California Fly Fisher lying around that you've been meaning to get rid of, let me know. I would like to create a club outings notebook for California locations.

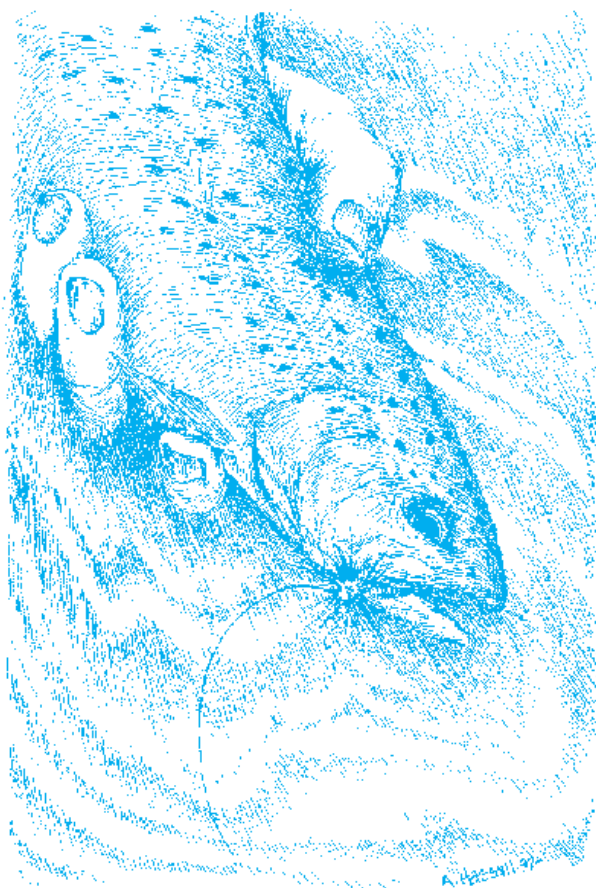

For more information, contact me at jathomason@mail.com or call me at (626) 357-6050.

Project Healing Waters Update

CAROLE KATZ, PHW NATIONAL TRUSTEE

On July 19, eleven volunteers from Long Beach Casting Club took nine disabled veterans from the Long Beach VAMC fishing on the West Fork of the San Gabriel River. This river is perfect for a day-long fishing trip. We were really pleased to have along Rex Jennings, the Chief of Voluntary Services, who drove the VA van for the veterans so he could see Project Healing Waters in action.

Club member Chuck Moore and another Forest Service representative met us at the Educational Center and escorted us beyond the locked gate so that we had most of the eight miles of the West Fork to ourselves. For those who have not been there, this section has four handicapped-accessible fishing ramps. This is important for our group because we had two vets in wheelchairs and several who walk with canes. The casters learned that, while the trees provide pleasant relief from the hot sun, they can be a problem for those who aren't careful about their casting. It was a good learning experience.

Matt, a relative newcomer to our group, caught the most fish (seven) during the three hours of fishing and the largest at eleven inches. He also lost the most flies in the trees, but he was all smiles. Any day on the water is a good day, but when seven out of nine disabled vets catch fish, it is a very good day.

One of our participants just returned from a PHW trip to western Montana. Jesse selected a similar trip last year as his prize for winning the national rod building contest, and he was invited back again this year by the hosts, who include Ed Nicholson, the PHW founder and CEO. Again this year, Jesse had a great trip in a variety of fishing environments.

Matt has been selected to participate in a PHW trip to West Yellowstone the end of August. In addition to spending several days fishing in the area, Matt and the others will be guests of the FFF at their Annual Conclave.

For the months of August and September, we're working on casting in anticipation of our October trip to the Big Horn. Everyone has been fitted with waders and wading boots. If you would like to make a contribution to the travel expenses for this trip, please contact me at 714-731-6044.

Three new volunteers have recently joined us: David Lloyd, Gary McDonough, and David Warner. It's a pleasure to have such a group of enthusiastic and capable volunteers.

Fly of the Month: Foam Beetle

JOHN VAN DERHOOF, EDITOR

It's mid to late summer and I have just reminded myself that I have been neglecting an important part of a trout's diet—terrestrials. The land dwelling insects that fall accidentally and somewhat helplessly into the aquatic food chain. But at this time of year when the hatches of more notable fishier types of insect species wane while they wait for cooler weather, then terrestrials can prove their value many times over.

Fishing the margins and edges of streams, grass banked ones in particular, with terrestrial patterns such as beetles, ants grasshoppers and crickets can be very effective. I remember one trip to Henry's Fork years ago when one club member worked for over an hour to one particular fish, a particularly large fish, and finally nailed it with a Crowe Beetle (yes, that is the correct spelling).

This pattern has been quite effective on a variety of water types such as spring creeks (the Henry's Fork and Hot Creek), tailwater fisheries (the Green River) and freestone rivers (the Madison and to some extent the Owens River). The wing liners on this fly, which stick out from under the shellback, add to the illusion that the poor creature is struggling in the surface film attempting to fly away.

Materials for tying the Foam Beetle:

Hook:	Standard dry fly; sizes 12 to 20
Thread:	Black 6/0 or 8/0
Body:	Fluorescent green Krystal Flash
Shell back:	Black closed cell foam (evasote or other)
Wing liners:	Fluorescent green Krystal Flash
Legs:	Black rubber legs
Head:	Black thread

Instructions for tying the Foam Beetle:

1. Start by attaching your thread to the hook at the bend of the hook and wind forward to the head space. Put a drop of cement on the thread to help lock it in place.
2. Cut a ¼" wide by 1/8" thick by 2" long piece of foam and tie it onto the hook by winding down to the bend and back to the head space. Make sure it is firmly attached to the hook and lies squarely on top of the hook.
3. Tie in the 2 to 4 strands of the Krystal Flash body and wrap them to the bend and back to the head space. Tie in the 8 to 12 strands of Krystal Flash wing liners on top of the hook and trim them so they are the same length as the body.
4. Tie on the legs with 2 legs per side and using 'X' wraps.
5. Pull the foam shell back forward and tie it down firmly at the head space directly in front of the legs and whip finish. Trim off the excess foam in the same manner as an elk hair caddis creating its head.

Notes from the Pond

DAN RIVETT, CAPTAIN

If you have been attending the Tuesday night casts recently, you are seeing more casters participating in the games. We are up about 20% for the last 3 weeks. Most new participants are not out casting an "A" score yet. However, if your fishing buddy is coming out to cast in the games and you are not, guess who will be tucking their fly under the branch and not into it, or hitting that current seam holding Moby trout. Yep, your buddy. So, come on out for the skill building and camaraderie. As a reminder the Tuesday night games will end on August 24th.

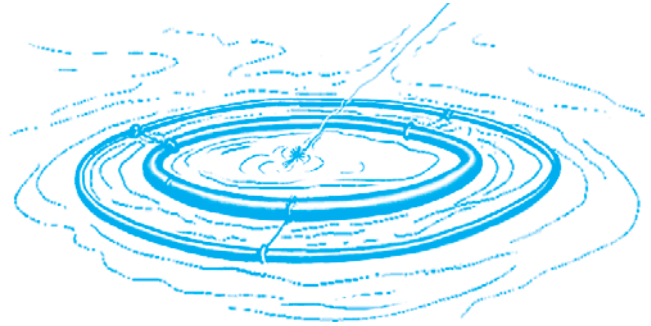

Not to worry, because the Sunday morning casts begin with the Captain's Handicap, August 29th. If you came out to the Tuesday night games and had difficulty seeing your fly, then the Sunday morning casts are for you, visibility is much improved. We cast about every other Sunday, so check your roster for the cast dates as well as the scheduled casting games. The Sunday casts start with 8:00 AM breakfast prepared by your fellow club members, for a nominal cost, which is usually less than $5.00. Breakfast is followed by the casting games, which start at 9:00 AM sharp.

With the number of new casters coming out to participate in the games Mark Tsunawaki suggested starting Thursday night casting instruction. This will help casters new to the games become familiar with the rules and to hone their target casing skills. So come on out and work with experienced casters. Who knows, you may be the next 100 score (perfect score) caster.

We have a pond cleaning scheduled for Saturday, August 28th. Please note that this is a SATURDAY cleaning. I am going to schedule this again on Saturday, because of the positive responses received on the July 3rd pond cleaning. I hope you will make a point to help in the pond cleaning or clubhouse clean-up. Remember, this is a volunteer organization, which requires volunteers to step up and help to maintain the Long Beach Casting Club the facility that it is.

See you on the pond...

Welcome Our New Members

NANI BLYLEVEN, MEMBERSHIP SECRETARY

The Board of Directors unanimously accepted the following applications for membership:

- ❖ Rix Gano & Yumi Hori, San Pedro
- ❖ Jay Robinson & Amy Baland, Long Beach
- ❖ Ed Foster, Garden Grove
- ❖ Greg DuVall, Burbank
