Leader's Line...

Happy Holidays!

YASH ISEDA, PRESIDENT

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to All!

I hope that this past year has taken you to some great fishing destinations. Whether it be Bonefish on Christmas Island or for the Rainbows and Browns (and Cutts) on the Green River in Utah, I'm sure all of your experiences were exciting.

The next three months, January, February and March will take us to the Lower Owens River in Bishop. Some of you may be worried about the weather at that time of year. A quote from a member, Bob Allen, says "...there is no such thing as cold weather, just inappropriate dress."

Each of the trips will be preceded by a workshop a week prior to the trip. At each meeting you will learn about knots, flies, set ups and equipment. We will also make you more aware of where to fish.

These trips have grown in popularity over the last few years. This year we will miss our leader, Jeff Sadler, but know that he will be with us in spirit.

The Lower Owens will provide you with every fishing opportunity, from Dry Fly, Nymphing, Soft Hackle, and Streamer fishing. Many of us are creatures of habit and fish in the same place every year. However, there are so many spots on the river that it would be wise to explore other areas.

Einstein's definition of insanity: "...doing the something over and over again and expecting a different result." As on the Owens, you need to regularly change flies, set ups and locations to assure better results.

The Owens trip has been so successful because we really have a great time. We meet for dinner each night and share stories of the days fishing in the evening.

For those of you who think that the Lower Owens does not provide enough of a challenge, there will be a one fly contest on Saturday. Bring your best fly and join us.

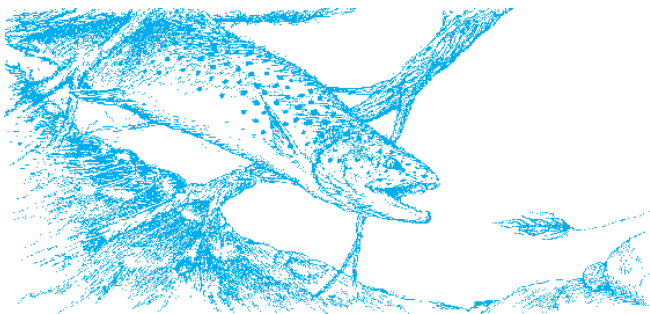

As you leave Bishop, you may want to stop at Schatt's to pick up some bread, however, if you find it too busy you might want to try the Great Basin Bakery for Sierra Mudd or Cowgirl Cookies.

Please join us to start the New Year off with another great trip to the Owens.

Why Does Sadness Always Come in Threes...

JOHN VAN DERHOOF, EDITOR

After losing two of our favorite Club members: Jeff Katz and Jeff Sadler, I must announce the passing of a third member, Mike Dunn.

Mike joined the club in 1979 and was President in 1981–1982. Mike was probably the only club member that progressed from Editor of Target Talk directly to President having never held a prior Board position. During his Presidency he dramatically increased the club's sagging budget through a mammoth effort procuring donations from major fly fishing companies to the White Elephant Sale. He was also an avid tournament caster, and helped teach the annual club's Beginning Fly Casting Class—usually the Martinez Black.

In 1986 Mike and his wife Ida moved to Denair, California to farm a family almond orchard. He is survived by Ida and his two daughters Sarah Dunn and Stephanie Dunn Ramsey and their families.

I wish more of the membership could have known him.

2015 Venison Stag Christmas Dinner

STEVE GONZALEZ, 1ST VICE PRESIDENT

The date of the venison Stag Christmas Dinner is fast approaching and it is time mark your calendar to reserve a spot for the club's biggest social event of the year. The date for this year's event is Saturday, December 5.

The social hour will begin at 6:00 PM with refreshments and Hawaiian music provided. A delicious prime rib dinner with all the fixings cooked by our very own master chef John Lincoln and his team will be served starting at 7:00 PM.

An accurate head count is necessary to plan and prepare the dinner and there is a reservation form included in this issue of the Target Talk. The cost is $20 if made by reservation or $30 at the door. Of course, all members, family and guests are welcome. Please send in your reservation as soon as possible.

For an event of this magnitude we depend on members for help. Please volunteer to help on one of the committees. We need people to clean the clubhouse, set up decorations and set the tables, assist the chef, and to do final cleanup. You can contact me or sign up on the lists located on the bulletin board in the clubhouse.

If you are able to help, Please e-mail me, Steve Gonzalez, at stevegonzalez@verizon.net or call me at 562-489-5286.

For our new members, this is a great opportunity to get to know the membership and the traditions of our great club. Be sure to mark the December 5 on your calendar for the LBCC 2015 Venison Stag Christmas Dinner.

Notes from the Pond and Info for Brookie Bash 2016

MARK FLO, CAPTAIN

The Long Beach Casting Club fielded a team of five casters at the Northwestern Casting Tournament at the Golden Gate Casting Club. It was a BLAST to cast in Golden Gate Park with the Blue Angels flying the Diamond Formation overhead. I would like to thank the Golden Gate and Oakland Casting Clubs for their hospitality hosting the event.

We also did a pre-tournament at the Pasadena Casting Club that was hosted one month before the Northwest Tournament. I would also like to thank the Pasadena Casting Club for their hospitality.

We are still casting in December: Sunday the 6th and Sunday the 20th, starting at 9:00 AM.

The Club will be hosting the annual Southwestern Tournament on Saturday February 13th and Sunday the 14th. Some of the best casters in the nation will be here casting, and this is a great opportunity to watch, learn and participate in our great sport. We need help with food preparation, score keeping, morning set up and afternoon take down. If you can volunteer for either day, please email me at mark.flo@verizon.net or call 562-743-7434.

BROOKIE BASH 2016

The date for the Brookie Bash is the Saturday the 16th of July, and we will be reserving condos for the evening of Thursday the 14th to the morning of Sunday the 17th. We will be requiring a cash (check) deposit after the New Year for those wishing to reserve space in the condos.

Please email me at mark.flo@verizon.net or call 562-743-7434.

Project Healing Waters Fly Fishing

CAROLE KATZ, PROGRAM LEAD

The Long Beach Project Healing Waters program had a very busy summer. In addition to weekly casting and tying classes, there were several fishing outings. Bill Boyce was chosen to go to a once-in-a-lifetime trip to Iceland sponsored by our national organization. Fishing was challenging but he did get a really nice one.

A group of thirteen fished the Mammoth area in September. Several vets caught their first trout—big ones as you can see in the photos.

Then a group of fourteen went back to Bishop in October. This was during the Southwest Council FFF Fly Fishing Faire where there were several other PHWFF programs.

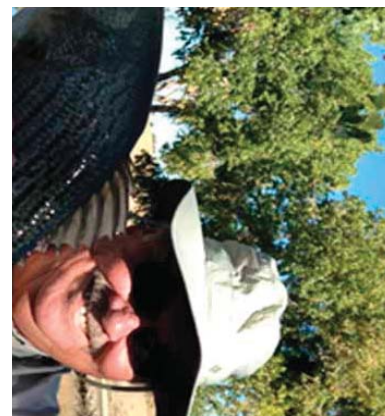

On October 24, we went to Jess Ranch Lakes to fish for the day with assistance provided by our good friends at Hi Desert Fly Fishers. This is always a special day with good food and good fishing. Bill caught an unusual one.

And, during the last week of October, six of us went to the San Juan in northern New Mexico and the Piedra in southwestern Colorado. The fall colors were beautiful, the weather cooperated and the fishing was great. Our hosts at Soaring Eagle Lodge did a fantastic job with the guides, accommodations and meals.

We have one last trip this year, this one to Redding. Our group is growing which necessitates having more trips to accommodate everyone. There are a lot more photos on our Facebook page: Project Healing Waters Long Beach.

Thanks to all those who continue to make this program so very successful. If you'd like to volunteer or donate, please email me at Katzhogan@gmail.com.

The Lower "O" Season

THE LOWER "O" BOYS

This traditional season of winter trips has morphed into a truly great experience for beginning fly fishers as the old pros spend Saturday and part of Sunday on the shoulder of rookies teaching them to read the water, rig their rod, and catch pretty trout. The schedule is:

January 7–10; Pre-Trip is Sunday, January 3 and led by Yash Iseda

February 4–7; Pre-Trip is Sunday, January 31 and led by Yash Iseda

March 10–13; Pre-Trip is Saturday March 5 and led by John Lincoln

Some comments from prior beginners:

"The Lower O is the best stream...EVER", Ernest H.

"The fish are HUGE on the Lower O", Zane G.

The Pre-Trip Meetings are a combination of trip info and a class telling you everything you need to know about from when you step out of your car in jeans and sweatshirt until you step into the river in waders and boots and your rod ready to rock-n-roll. The class stars at 9:00 AM and goes until you are exhausted.

- ❖ Secret spots revealed (Carole's, Jeff's, Bob's and if he doesn't show up, 3 Joe Libeu hot spots!).
- ❖ Master nymph rig techniques (Yash)

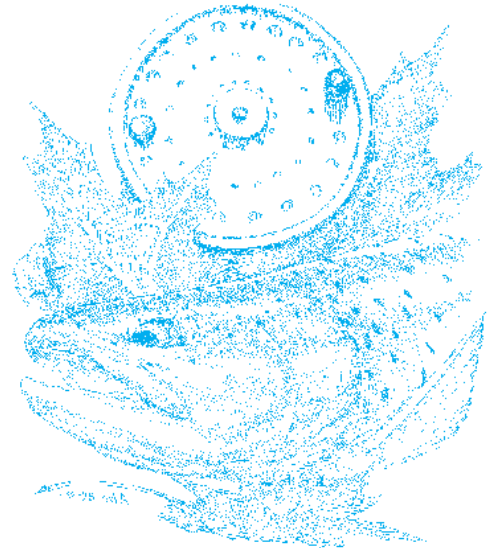

- ❖ Soft hackle & streamers (Danny)
- ❖ Dry flies (Danny)
- ❖ How to dress (John)
- ❖ These classes are worth your while even if you can't make the trips.

Gustatory delights include Amigo's (Thursday), Japanese (Friday), and Pizza Factory (Saturday).

PLUS, the home made 6, yes six foot, sandwich on Saturday for lunch (free).

Bishop is $\frac{3}{4}$ of a tank north in the beautiful Eastern Sierra and winter fishing can be spectacular. The weather can vary from peeling off layers of clothing to horizontal sleet. The Owens flow is currently at a very fishable rate.

The best part is the camaraderie of old and new friends and the sharing of arcane secrets.

Fly of the Month: Steelhead Slider

JOHN VAN DERHOOF, EDITOR

One of the greatest thrills in fly fishing is the rise of a steelhead or salmon to a waking or skating dry fly. It is the culmination of a near perfect set of circumstances. First, the fish needs to be there (duh!) and usually the water temperature needs to be a bit warmer than normal. Then, the angler must make a precise cast with a bulky, wind-resistant fly and adeptly mend the line so that it slides over the fish at just the right speed. If the fly travels too slowly it may go unnoticed or sink in the current. If it goes too quickly it will either spook your quarry or get dragged below the surface. So, considering all of that, are you ready for a fly that will take out some of the variables?

Enter the Steelhead Slider, a fly that is easy to cast and virtually unsinkable under tension! This fly works on the reverse of the principle that makes Larry Dahlberg's famous Dahlberg Diver dive. The collar of a Dahlberg diver acts as a wing that pulls the fly below the surface. The collar of the Steelhead Slider lifts the fly to the surface and keeps it there with only the slightest amount of tension on the line and fly. The wings of the fly add to the effectiveness by creating a well-formed wake even at slow speeds.

This is a pattern that can be tied in a wide variety of sizes and colors. For steelhead and salmon tie the fly in sizes #8 through #4. The colors that seem to best are pale yellow or orange with a natural tan or brown collar and a black body with a black collar. Smaller sizes such as #10 through #16 and more natural colors can be used to imitate grasshoppers or egg-laying caddis for trout. I introduced a trout version of this fly to my friends Gary LaFontaine and Craig Mathews years ago at a fly tiers get together in Hamilton, Montana. Gary was so impressed after we fished it that morning on the Beaverhead that it became a staple in his fly box and was even included in his book The DRY FLY (GREYCLIFF, 1990).

So take it out for a try and enjoy!

Materials for tying the Steelhead Slider:

Thread:	Black 6/0 or 8/0
Hook:	Low water or dry fly salmon hook; size 16 to 2
Body:	Hot orange synthetic seal hair substitute (or color as desired) with fine oval gold tinsel
Underwing:	Fluorescent orange Krystal Flash strands (or color as desired)
Wing:	Golden pheasant tail lightly coated with Flexament
Collar:	Deer or elk hair tied on as a collar, coated with Flexament and trimmed into a semi-fan shape
Head:	Black thread

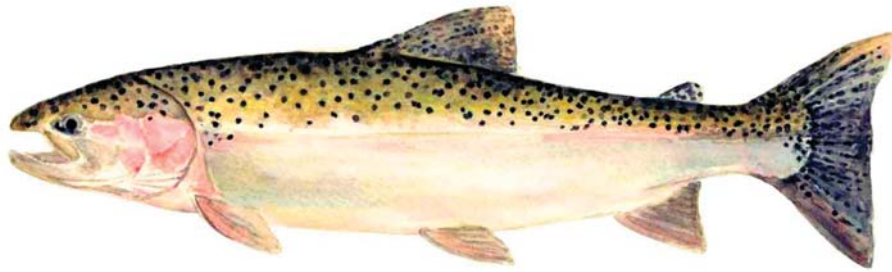

SIDE VIEW

TOP VIEW

Instructions for tying the Steelhead Slider:

- 1 Attach the thread to the hook to the shank directly behind the return of the looped eye. Wind the thread up onto the looped eye and close it off but leave about 2 headspaces distance from the eye. Now advance the wind the thread down to the bend in the shank.
- 2 Tie in the oval gold tinsel on the far underside of the hook. Apply the dubbing to the thread and wind it forward to the end of the looped eye. Wind the tinsel 3 turns next to each other to form a tag and then continue to wind forward 5 evenly spaced turns and tie it off on the underside of the hook.
- 3 Cut off left and right sections of the golden pheasant tail wing. They should be about 3/8" wide for a #6 fly. Brush a small amount of Flexament onto the wing, wipe off the excess with your fingers, and set aside to dry. Tie in about 20 strands of Krystal Flash that extends to the end of the body. Tie the wings in one at a time. They should be flat as possible forming a "V" with the point of the tips outward and extending to just beyond the bend.

- 4 Tie on a partial collar of deer or elk hair. The tips will be on top of the wing and should extend to the end of the body and the hair should not be on the underside of the hook. Stand the butt ends straight up with a couple of turns of thread. Spin on 1 or 2 sections of deer hair over the bare section of the looped eye and make sure that you leave enough room for a small head. Wind the head of the fly and whip finish.

- 5 Trim the underside of the hair collar very close to the hook but without cutting any of the thread wraps that secure it. Brush a small amount of Flexament onto the face of the collar and allow it to dry until it is tacky. At this point squeeze the hair together into a fan shaped the top of which should cant toward the eye about 20 to 30 degrees. Apply more Flexament to the face of the collar and allow it to dry until it is tacky. When it is tacky once again squeeze the hair together and trim collar into a fan shape the height of which should not exceed the gape of the hook.

Allow the fly to dry overnight before taking it to your favorite place to try it out fishing.
